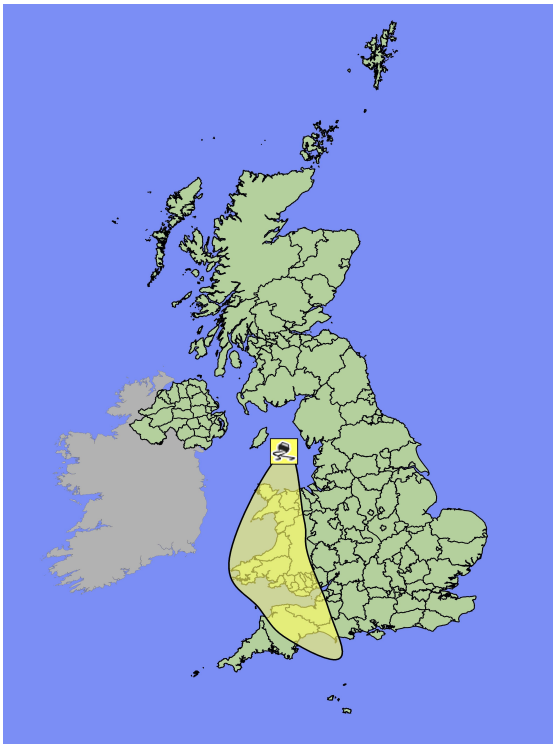
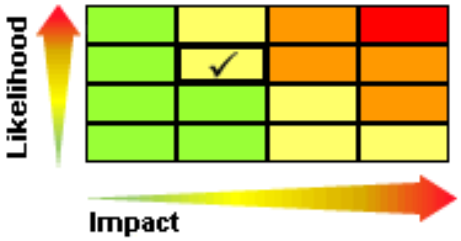
National Severe Weather Warning Service





Chief Forecasters Assessment
A cold air mass of arctic origin has been will have been warmed a little by its passage over the Atlantic, though not enough to prevent surface temperatures falling below zero overnight.

The Met Office have issued a Yellow Warning of Ice

Valid from 21:00 on Mon, 14th Jan 2013 until 10:00 on Tue, 15th Jan 2013

Showers coming southeast across the area tonight will fall as snow above about 200 m, where more than 5 cm is possible locally. More significant is the risk of icy roads as surfaces freeze behind the showers.

The public are advised to be aware of the risk of disruption to travel.
